ABOUT INTERACTIVE SPACE

The International Biennial Association is a community producing multidisciplinary discourse that encourages the productive and discursive voices of the contemporary art world. This space encourages the community research and the exchange of knowledge and information between institutions and professional artists. We plan and curate periodic art events such as biennials and triennials, and researchers, who are an indispensable part of the contemporary visual art scene. IBA strives to facilitate a space of open communication allowing the flow of creative ideas and the formulation of discursive talks.
